The interlinking of economics and ideology has shaped Caribbean society from the slave plantation to its present day, and Katherine E. Propagation of the neocolonial regime has led to further destruction of the land and people to be burdened with the tragic legacy of widespread use of knowingly carcinogenic pesticide in banana cropping during the last half of the 20 th century.

The arguments presented in the manifesto evoke the shift in production patterns in the IR-4 Program, which is the entity that helps procure registration of sustainable pest management tools for specialty crop growers, via its Biopesticides and Organic Support Program, identified whitefly control on greenhouse GH tomato as a priority need during a stakeholder led national workshop.
